NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

Note 1 - Nature of Business and Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Nature of Business:

Elevation, LLC (the "Company") was organized on December 27, 2005 under the North Carolina Limited Liability Company Act. The Company is a single-member LLC that operates as a brokerage firm located in Charlotte, North Carolina. The Company is a member of the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc. (NASD).

A summary of the Company's significant policies follows:

Revenue Recognition

The Company operates under a fully disclosed clearing agreement whereby Sterne Agee Capital Markets, Inc. introduces the Company's customer accounts to an affiliate securities clearing firm, Sterne, Agee & Leach, Inc. ("Clearing Firm"). The Clearing Firm clears transactions on behalf of the Company and carries and clears on a fully disclosed basis the Company's and its customers' cash and margin accounts. The company earns income, net of clearing costs, on these introduced transactions. Securities transactions are recorded on a trade-date basis.

The Company prepares its financial statements on the accrual basis of accounting.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment are stated at cost. Depreciation is provided using straight-line methods for financial reporting purposes over the estimated useful lives of the assets. Significant additions and betterments are capitalized. Expenditures for maintenance and repairs and minor renewals are charged to operations as incurred.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

For the purpose of the financial statements, the Company considers cash in operating accounts, cash on hand, and short-term debt securities purchased with maturity of three months or less as cash and cash equivalents.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Note 2 - Depreciation

Depreciation expense charged to operations was $6,932 for the year ended December 31, 2006.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

The Company held a deposit of $200,233 with the Clearing Firm at December 31, 2006. The clearing deposit is interest-bearing and is required under the clearing agreement between the Company and the Clearing Firm.

Note 4 - Income Taxes

The Company has elected under the Internal Revenue Code to be taxed as a sole proprietorship. In lieu of income taxes, the single member of the LLC will be taxed on the Company's taxable income. As such, no provision for current or deferred income taxes is recorded at December 31, 2006 or for the period then ended.

Note 5 – Concentration of Risk

During 2006, the Company had one large customer which accounted for one hundred percent of its trading revenue.

Note 7 - Contingent Liabilities

The Company is liable to the clearing broker if a loss is incurred by reason of failure to pay on behalf of any introduced account.

REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL STRUCTURE REQUIRED BY SEC RULE 17a-5

The Member of Elevation, LLC Charlotte, North Carolina

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of Elevation, LLC. (the Company) as of and for the year ended December 31, 2006, in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America, we considered the Company's internal control over financial reporting (internal control) as a basis for designing our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control. Accordingly, we do not express an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.

Also, as required by rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by the Company including consideration of control activities for safeguarding securities. This study included tests of such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in rule 17a-5(g) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under rule 17a-3(a)(11) and for determining compliance with the exemptive provisions of rule 15c3-3. Because the Company does not carry securities accounts for customers or perform custodial functions relating to customer securities, we did not review the practices and procedures followed by the Company in any of the following:

- 1. Making quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications, and comparisons and recordation of differences required by rule 17a-13
- 2. Complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining internal control and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable but not absolute assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control and the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate.

A control deficiency exists when the design or operation of a control does not allow management or employees, in the normal course of performing their assigned functions, to prevent or detect misstatements on a timely basis. A significant deficiency is a control deficiency, or combination of control deficiencies, that adversely affects the entity's ability to initiate, authorize, record, process, or report financial data reliably in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles such that there is more than a remote likelihood that a misstatement of the entity's financial statements that is more than inconsequential will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

A material weakness is a significant deficiency, or combination of significant deficiencies, that results in more than a remote likelihood that a material misstatement of the financial statements will not be prevented or detected by the entity's internal control.

Our consideration of internal control was for the limited purpose described in the first and second paragraphs and would not necessarily identify all deficiencies in internal control that might be material weaknesses. We did not identify any deficiencies in internal control and control activities for safeguarding securities that we consider to be material weaknesses, as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures, as described in the second paragraph of this report, were adequate at December 31, 2006, to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the sole member of the Company, the SEC, and other regulatory agencies that rely on rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
